TUESDAY, NOV. 30, 1909.

How would you like to see a $1,000,000 cotton mill located in Catawba?

"A Boaster," should be the motto of every citizen of this "Queen of the Catawba."

"Sing a song of sixpence, a pile of birds" is now the cry of the business.

We can read the future by the past and this we know, that great is Chester's future.

A pull, and a pull all together will mean a whole lot for Chester and for you just now.

What a marvel it will be if the "In-surgents" continue their attack right after the election.

"Cook missing." Is nothing new to the housekeeper. They often fail to turn up at their point.

Pennsylvanians, Pennsylvanians, and 'taters' are plentiful in Chester this year and the full dinner pail is a reality in Chester country.

One farmer in Mckenzieburg was shot by another Saturday without warning, and the usual story of liquor was seen in the picture.

Out of the night that covers me I want to move the city of light otherwise known as Chester, like the Lancasterian. Right and come on.

"Cook has disappeared" was the announcement sent out last Saturday morning in the press. But it refers to the North Pole discoverer and not to a kitchen domestic.

If Peary would only follow the example of Cook and disappear for some weeks to explore country would be very thankful and we would then have time to decide which one is a liar.

Have you noticed the number of residences and business homes that are being erected in Chester? When have you taken a walk around town and noticed what is going on in the way of improvement?

The dedication of the new Baptist church at Harmony on last Sunday was a great day and the members of that congregation deserve all the compliments which were paid to them. They are a progressive and happy people, and their new church building is one of the prettiest we have ever seen.

"Once of the Catawba"

The "Queen of the Catawba," the name by which our fair and prosperous city is becoming to be known is attracting attention from the outside world as she never does before. Daily people are looking here with the intention to seek a location and every little while some choice compliment is passed on the city. It does us good to hear it.

With its splendid railroad facilities, its unrivaled back country, its delightful climate, and its promising future Chester is today the most desirable city in this great Piedmont country. From the time that the Southern Power Company began their great development at Great Falls, the eyes of investors and home-seekers have been turned this way. Inquiry after inquiry poured into here from every section of the country and the fame of Chester was cast broadcastly over the land. Her wonderful advantages, we never tire in telling. Her great and hospitable people are our pride and a standing testimonial of Chester's riches.

With the talk of new enterprises and the coming of new inhabitants Chester is looking forward with hope to the new year. Our people have made good crops of cotton, corn and other necessities, and in most instances, our farmers are well satisfied with the labor of their hands. Our merchants and business men are having good trade and are sharing in the good fortune, and they too, for the greater part, are well content. In educational, religious, agricultural, industrial and commercial lines this year has shown wonderful strides. But great as it has been it is just the beginning of the marvelous growth which is in store for Chester. Her people have been great, her future will be greater. Just keep your eye on Chester, proud "Queen of the Catawba."

SPLENDID YIELD.
Co-operative Demonstration System Produces Most Satisfactory Results.
Mr. R. L. Cunningham, agent and supervisor of the co-operative demonstration work which is being done under the general supervision of Dr. S. A. Silk Moss 80 Years Old.

Mrs. J. Henry Gladden has in her possession a pair of silk moss 80 years old which was the property of her grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Lecky.

The moss, of course, are moth eaten but are still pretty well preserved. Mrs. Lecky was the wife of Rev. William Lecky, having been married to him the 3rd of December 1829.

She died on December 26th, 1884. Four of her grand children are still living, namely: Mrs. J. H. Gladden, Mrs. W. M. Quilton, Mrs. J. T. Land and Mrs. A. Q. Allen.

Small Pox at Great Falls.

Sherid D. E. Calvin received a telephone message last night from Mr. Tom Benson, at Great Falls, telling him that there were two cases of small pox there, and Mr. Benson said he wanted to put guards around the house where the cases were to keep the disease from spreading.

The sheriff informed him that he would see the supervisor who has authority over such matters and let him act at once. It is presumed that the small pox was brought from Ninety Nine Islands as it has been raging there. Steps will be taken at once by the proper authorities to keep the disease from spreading at Great Falls.

To Be Tried This Afternoon.

Paul Alexander, colored, who raised a row on Columbia street among the colored population, beating his wife and threatening another woman with a gun, will be tried this afternoon before a jury.

Lost a Fine Mule.

Mr. Will Roddey, who lives on the Keil place below Wellridge, lost a fine mule last Saturday. Desperate efforts were made to save the life of the mule but all in vain.

Grier Fined $25.

Arthur Grier, an operative of the Springstead mill, who shot his brother-in-law, Solomon Phagan, Sunday night, was fined $25 in the police court this morning. The bullet merely grazed Phagan's leg and caused only a bruise. Grier was captured Sunday night at the railroad crossing by Chief Taylor, Policeman Williams and special officer J. V. Peay. He was said to have been drinking Sunday night and handling his pistol carelessly when his brother-in-law remonstrated with him with the result above mentioned.

Mrs. N. P. Johnston Dead.

Mrs. N. P. Johnston died at the Magdalen hospital early Saturday morning from blood poisoning. The remains were taken to Harmony Baptist church on Sunday and after funeral services interred in the cemetery there. Mrs. Johnston is survived by her husband and four step children as follows: Mrs. Lou Marks, Buena Vista, N. C.; Mrs. M. B. Hilton, Charlotte, N. C.; J. T. B. Johnston, Rock Hill, and Miss Mary Johnston, of this city. Mrs. Johnston was before her marriage Miss Louisa Edwards, a half sister of Capt. W. H. Edwards and a native of the Harmony section.

Columbia is going to make a strong effort to secure the Lutheran Seminary, which is to be moved from Mount Pleasant, and this matter will be decided at a meeting to be held in Columbia on December 1. A committee of two will attend and present Columbia's claims at the Charlotte meeting—Anderson Daily Mail.

Goldsboro, N. C.—Inflamed by liquor

Owen Glinn, a wealthy farmer of Snow Hill, Wayne county, entered the home of his son-in-law, Samuel Joyner, and opened fire upon Joyner as the latter lay about. During the first few shots, Joyner managed to reach his pistol and returned the fire, killing Glinn instantly with the first bullet.

Barlier in the day Glinn made an attempt upon his wife and shot and painfully wounded his young son, who was making a defense of his mother, and who finally wounded his father. Glinn had been on a protracted debauch.

Her Advice.
She had a hat like a hayfield and was sitting in the fifth row of the pit, was hoping with all her might that it might attract Mr. Walley's attention and get him to look at her for a moment. She flattered herself she was looking uncomparably handsome.

When Bathing Was Rare.
In some old English court memoirs of the eighteenth century it is stated that when George IV. was a baby he was bathed only once a fortnight. That was thought to be plenty often enough his days for a child to be washed. When one of George's little sisters had measles the royal mother gave most careful instructions that the child's linen was not to be changed too soon, as she feared that some careless attendant would clothe it in garments manifestly soiled and so "drive in the rash." In those days people were most afraid of clean linen and bathing. It was believed the complete bodily ablutions were weakening, yet price, peer and peasant alike called in at every almost the doctors of the period, who bled them into a state of weakness and sometimes death.

Closing Out Sale

Crockery, Glassware and Stationery At Your Own Price.

When I bought the crockery stock of the Chester Plumbing and Heating Co. last spring, I was undecided whether I would sell it out at once or replenish the stock and continue the business at least until a better season for selling. Having decided upon the latter course, I filled the shelves with the best of goods, adding a small but very select stock of Stationery and School Supplies, Blank Books, etc.

Now, I am going TO CLOSE OUT the stock FOR CASH as rapidly as practicable, as a whole, with the least I have on the stand, if a buyer presents himself—otherwise by the piece, at prices that will do the work quickly.

In the meantime, we are going on selling anything in the store at closing out prices.

We have a few very beautiful Haviland and other fine China dinner sets, Toilet Sets, Bowls and Pitchers, all kinds of staple Crockery, Glass and Enamelled Ware, Parlor Lamps, Hall Lamps, Bronze Statues and other figures, vases, fine decorated China and Japanese ware, a lot of fine stationery, pen and pencil tablets, paper, envelopes, pens, pencils, ink, rubber bands, erasers, blank books, etc.

ALSO
A number of very fine flexible back BIBLES with concordances, index and other helps, and Old Lady's Testaments, that you can read without spectacles.
